DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 6, it is unclear if variables T'' and T^2 are the same or different variables, or if applicant inadvertently made a typographical error. Also, it is unclear what "min(c)" means.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 4, 5, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by GB 1190682.

The reference discloses a method of concentrating aqueous formaldehyde solutions having 36% by weight formaldehyde by evaporation under reduced pressure, wherein the evaporation at each evaporation step is maintained at a value below 100°

Art Unit: 1621

C, particular at a temperature around 18, 43, and 62 degrees at each respective evaporation step (p 2, line 115 to p 3, line 17-69). This process anticipates the instant claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2, 3, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over G B 1190682.

The instant claims further limit the process of the present invention to a starting formaldehyde content of 50-99% by weight and 70-99% by weight, respectively. Claim 8 is drawn to preparation of the formaldehyde solution by oxidative dehydration of methanol.

The reference starts with formaldehyde solution having 36% by weight formaldehyde. The instant claims are rendered obvious, however, because at each successive evaporation step, the formaldehyde content increases to over 80% (p 2, lines 28-44).

While silent with regard to how the formaldehyde is made, the reference still renders claim 8 obvious since production of formaldehyde in the claimed manner is an extremely well-known process, and need not have been mentioned in the reference.
